Food and wine

Traditional dishes

Fiesole
Fiesole's organic district, wine and olive oil experiences, and the Mercato della Terra farmers' market: discover the area through its olive oil, wine, honey, saffron and local produce.

Signa
Craft beer, pappa al pomodoro and Tuscan specialities offer a taste of everyday life in Signa, where good food brings people together.

Reggello
ReOlio, the "Tour dell'Olio" and zolfino beans introduce visitors to Reggello's olive groves, olive mills, tastings and outstanding local produce.

Bagno a Ripoli
Inzimino di lampredotto: a traditional Florentine dish with humble origins, rich flavours and deep roots in local cooking.

Figline e Incisa
Nana con i sedani: a local speciality that offers a taste of traditional Valdarno cooking.

Campi Bisenzio
Pecora alla campigiana and ranocchi fritti (fried frogs): local favourites rooted in the area's rural heritage and traditional cooking.

Firenze & Scandicci
Lampredotto, bistecca alla fiorentina and fagioli all'uccelletto: iconic local dishes reflecting everyday customs and a long tradition of meat cookery.

Pelago, Londa, Pontassieve, Rufina
Bardiccio della Valdisieve: a flavoursome sausage seasoned with wild fennel, enjoyed grilled, in stews or at village festivals.

Calenzano
Calenzano's organic district, farms, olive mills and Mostra dell'Olio offer a journey through local produce and traditional cuisine.

Impruneta
Peposo all'impruneta: the area's signature dish, originating in its terracotta kilns and slow-cooked with red wine and pepper.

Lastra a Signa
Francesina, wine, olive oil and snails offer a taste of the area's rural heritage, cultivated hills and local food traditions.

Rignano sull'Arno
Wild boar is a local speciality in Rignano, served in sauces, stews and rustic dishes rooted in traditional game cooking.

Sesto Fiorentino
Budella alla sestese: a distinctive local dish prepared according to a longstanding tradition that is now increasingly rare.

Vaglia
Il Nardone: a traditional sweet dish from Vaglia made with stale bread and milk, born from home cooking and the practice of making the most of leftovers.

A culinary journey through wine and organic farming

Florence and the surrounding area lie within the Chianti DOCG wine region, encompassing two subzones: Chianti Colli Fiorentini and Chianti Rufina.

Chianti Colli Fiorentini covers Fiesole, Lastra a Signa, Impruneta, Bagno a Ripoli, Rignano sull'Arno, Figline e Incisa Valdarno, Pelago, Pontassieve and part of Reggello.

Chianti Rufina, the smallest Chianti subzone, stretches along the Sieve valley, across hills and higher ground facing the Apennines. Pomino DOC wines are also produced in this area.

The area is also home to three Organic Districts: in Fiesole, Calenzano and the area spanning Florence, Signa and Lastra a Signa. Here, organic farmers work together to manage resources more sustainably.
